Energy Storages for the Alpine Space

First Electric Mobility Day in Aosta

The first day dedicated to electric mobility in the Aosta Valley will take place on the afternoon of Saturday, September 27th, at Piazza Chanoux in Aosta (Italy).

The Municipality of Aosta, in collaboration with the Regional ministry for productive activities, energy and labour policies - and the Regionale Energy Agency COA Energy, promotes a day of disseminating information and awareness raising to all citizens. Commercial companies and operators will participate to the event where it will be possible to try for free electric bicycles and other electric vehicles.

The project AlpStore will be present in the event at the information points in Chanoux Square; information on sustainable transport projects in the region and on the integration of electric vehicles into the electrical system and the regional energy will be provided.

The presentation brochure is downloadable in pdf format (Italian only).
